Message from the President

Nancy Gardiner, President
Federal Economic Development Agency for Southern Ontario

It is with great pride that I present the Accessibility Plan for the Federal Economic Development Agency for Southern Ontario (FedDev Ontario). When I was appointed as president of this Agency in September 2021, it was clear that I was entering a department that is open, accommodating and willing to adapt so that everyone could do their best work. Further, FedDev Ontario's Public Service Employee Survey results in 2020 clearly demonstrated our commitment to inclusion and accessibility: 100 percent of employees who requested and were granted workplace accommodation in the previous two years were satisfied with the measures taken.

Through the work of our Senior Delegated Official for Employment Equity, Diversity and Inclusion and Accessibility Champion, our staff has had the opportunity to engage with colleagues with disabilities and hear about their experiences through open, honest and safe dialogues.

FedDev Ontario remains committed to achieving greater accessibility for employees and clients. I invite you to read about our commitments in this Plan and I encourage you to watch for our annual progress reports against these commitments. I am confident that our dedication to each other and the clients we serve in southern Ontario will drive our efforts in achieving our accessibility goals.

Background

The Accessible Canada Act received royal assent in July 2019 and aims to achieve a Canada without barriers by January 1, 2040. This will be achieved by identifying, removing and preventing barriers from emerging in the following areas:

- employment
- the built environment
- information and communication technologies
- communication (other than information and communication technologies)
- the procurement of goods, services and facilities
- the design and delivery of programs and services
- transportation

As the Public Service of Canada is the nation's largest employer, the Office of Public Service Accessibility (OPSA) was established to prepare the public service to meet or exceed the requirements of the Accessible Canada Act. Canada's public service can set an example of what it means to be accessible and can demonstrate that the inclusion of individual differences, abilities and disabilities will make the public service stronger.

OPSA's creation of the Accessibility Strategy for the Public Service of Canada established the vision of being the most accessible public service in the world. In order to realize this vision, OPSA identified five key goals based on the areas identified in the Accessible Canada Act:

1. Improve recruitment, retention and promotion of persons with disabilities
2. Enhance the accessibility of the built environment
3. Make information and communications technology usable by all
4. Equip public servants to design and deliver accessible programs and services
5. Build an accessibility-confident public service

Accessibility statement for FedDev Ontario

FedDev Ontario's Accessibility Plan is based on the guiding principles in the Accessible Canada Act and the goals established in OPSA's Accessibility Strategy for the Public Service of Canada. FedDev Ontario is committed to creating a working environment where:

- everyone is treated with dignity and respect, regardless of disability or ability,
- everyone has barrier-free access to full and equal participation in the work and activities of FedDev Ontario, regardless of disability or ability, and
- everyone has the opportunity to be involved in the development and design of FedDev Ontario's activities, with the objective of reaching the highest level of accessible involvement for all persons.

Accessibility is under the umbrella of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion at FedDev Ontario, and is grounded in respect and the acknowledgement that our differences make us stronger. The drivers of accessibility at FedDev Ontario include:

- our intention to make FedDev Ontario the best it can be for employees and clients alike, regardless of disability or ability
- the Accessible Canada Act
- the Accessibility Strategy for the Public Service of Canada
- Canada's support to the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities

FedDev Ontario has established an Accessibility Committee that includes employees with disabilities who are able to speak directly to issues of accessibility and identify barriers. The work of this Committee is done in collaboration with Agency champions, management teams, staff and external groups to align the Accessibility Plan with the Agency's priorities.

The following sections are intended to provide a summary of FedDev Ontario's priorities as guided by the Accessible Canada Act and the Accessibility Strategy for the Public Service of Canada: employment, built environment, information and communication technologies (ICT), communication (other than ICT), the procurement of goods, services and facilities, the design and delivery of programs and transportation.

The commitment to accessibility in employment stretches from using clear, plain language when developing a job description, to communicating to job seekers and current employees that their accessibility needs can be addressed and their confidentiality respected. FedDev Ontario recognizes that the stigmas surrounding disabilities and required accommodations must be addressed to create a safe, respectful and accessible workplace and work culture for all employees.

FedDev Ontario's Executive Committee, a group of senior leaders with the wisdom and experience of years of leadership and involvement in the public service at many levels.

Office of Public Service Accessibility, a leading organization within the Government of Canada offering resources, best practices and advice on accessibility issues.

Conclusion

The Government of Canada's Accessibility Strategy for the Public Service of Canada describes how the public service can identify, remove and prevent physical, systemic and cultural obstacles so that every person, including those with disabilities, can flourish. A better Canada can be built by including the knowledge and expertise of persons with disabilities in all aspects of our work.

The goal from the outset has been simple but monumental: to make Canada's public service the most inclusive public service in the world. FedDev Ontario's Accessibility Plan, feedback tools and progress reports have been shaped to support this goal and to comply with the Accessible Canada Act.

Moving forward, our efforts will be focused on establishing stronger linkages between the Agency's Accessibility Plan, its strategic planning documents and its framework for diversity, equity and inclusion so that these important commitments can better leverage each other. For example, the Agency's Accessibility Committee, comprised of staff from various branches and employees who have self-identified as persons with disabilities, has been established and will be part of the umbrella of employee networks promoting inclusion, diversity, equity and accessibility.

When we make sure that everyone can participate and contribute, without barriers, we make Canada better for all.

Glossary

Accommodation (Adjustment) – any change in the working environment that allows a person with a disability or functional limitation to do their job. Changes can include:

- adjustments to the physical workspace
- adaptations to the equipment or tools
- flexible work hours or job-sharing
- relocation of the workspace within the greater workplace
- reallocation or exchange of some non-essential tasks for others
- time off for medical appointments

Accommodations (adjustments) can be temporary, periodic or long-term, depending on the employee's situation or changes in the workplace.

Barrier – anything that hinders or prevents the full and equal participation in society of persons with an impairment, including physical, mental, intellectual, cognitive, learning, communication or sensory impairments, or a functional limitation (obstacle). Barriers include anything physical, architectural, technological or attitudinal. * Barriers can also be based on information, communications or anything that is the result of a policy or a practice.

*Attitudinal barriers (attitudes) are behaviours, perceptions and assumptions that discriminate against persons with disabilities. These barriers often emerge from lack of understanding, which can lead people to ignore, to judge, or have misconceptions about persons with disability.

Disability – any impairment, including a physical, mental, intellectual, cognitive, learning, communication or sensory impairment — or a functional limitation — whether permanent, temporary or episodic in nature, or evident or not, that, in interaction with a barrier, hinders a person's full and equal participation in society.

Discrimination – treating someone differently or unfairly because of a personal characteristic or distinction. Whether the discrimination is intentional or not, it imposes disadvantages not imposed on others or withholds or limits access that is given to others. Under the Canadian Human Rights Act, there are 13 prohibited grounds of discrimination:

- race
- national or ethnic origin
- colour
- religion
- age
- sex
- sexual orientation
- gender identity or expression
- marital status
- family status
- genetic characteristics (including a requirement to undergo a genetic test or disclose the results of a genetic test)
- disability

- conviction for an offence for which a pardon has been granted or in respect of which a record suspension has been ordered

Inclusion – the act of including someone or something as part of a group. An inclusive workplace is fair, equitable, supportive, welcoming and respectful. Inclusion recognizes, values and leverages differences in identities, abilities, backgrounds, cultures, skills, experiences and perspectives that support and reinforce Canada’s evolving human rights framework.
